Jungheinrich LogiMAT exhibition stand honoured with iF Design Award 2025

- Honoured with one of the most prestigious design awards
- Outstanding stand concept also impresses at LogiMAT 2025
- LogiMAT 2025 under the motto ‘Connected solutions that fit. From every perspective.’

Hamburg, 5 March 2025 – Jungheinrich's exhibition stand at LogiMAT 2024 has been honoured with the renowned iF Design Award. Under the motto ‘SOLUTIONS THAT FIT. FROM EVERY PERSPECTIVE.’, Jungheinrich and the Agentur für Markenträume presented a new stand concept focused on future-proof material handling solutions. The expert jury of the iF Design Award particularly appreciated the successful interplay of technological innovation and the sustainable and minimalist product presentation. The jury also positively emphasised the coordinated alternation between brand communication and product information in harmony with the architectural elements. As part of this year's iF Design Awards, 102 design experts from 23 nations evaluated almost 11,000 entries. The jury members based their assessment on the five criteria of idea, form, function, differentiation and sustainability.

Jungheinrich Chief Sales Officer Nadine Despigneux says: “Winning the iF Design Award for our stand at LogiMAT 2024 is a great success. It is the result of close and creative collaboration between Jungheinrich and the Agentur für Markenträume. Together, we have consistently developed our stand concept over the past few years to bring the Jungheinrich brand to life through outstanding design.”

LogiMAT 2025: Connected solutions that fit

In just a few days, LogiMAT 2025 will be taking place in Stuttgart. The iF Design Award-winning exhibition concept will also be put into practice here and has been consistently further developed. At Stand B05 in Hall 9, Jungheinrich will be demonstrating how manual and automated processes can be optimally networked. Visitors can look forward to product innovation and the latest solutions for the connected and efficient material flow of the future. Under the motto 'Connected solutions that fit. From every perspective.', the company will show how material flows can be optimised for each individual customer through the seamless integration of manual and automated processes. The focus is on the precise connection of manual and automated applications to ensure a continuous process chain.

With its presence at this year's LogiMAT, Jungheinrich aims to emphasise its role as a leading full-service provider of material handling solutions. Jungheinrich consistently relies on digital innovations and sustainable energy concepts to support its customers in overcoming current and future challenges. Visitors to LogiMAT 2025 will be given practical insights into intelligent automation solutions, modern software products and efficient energy solutions. Jungheinrich is looking forward to advising trade visitors in person at LogiMAT 2025 and working together on future-proof material handling.
